CALL APPECTION VOLUMENING -In August, 1861, a German, whose name we forbear mentioning at the request of our informant, left this city as a volunteer, leaving behind him a wife and a house cat he thought much of. He made his wife promise that whenever his favorite cat had kittens she would not kill them, but keep them and their increase till his return.

Faithfully the woman has kept her word, and this forenoon, as we saw ourselves, has about her house in the Third Ward, in which she lives, in a shed adjoining and racing about the premises, the old cat and her children, grand children, great grand children, etc., etc., to the number of two hundred and nine cats, catlets and kittens.

If he is absent a year longer the multiplied litters will number into thousands, and would furnish fiddle strings enough to screnade all the volunteers in the country.-La Crosse Dem.
